

Source: The Sun
Edition: Print
Country: UK
Date: Wednesday 3rd December 2008
Circulation: 3,100,000

in last year's election.
His party and two others in the country's ruling coalition were disbanded.- A new PM will be chosen next week.
Wongsawat had only been in power for two and a half months.

UK bone jab hope

BRITISH scientists have created "liquid bone" that can be injected into the body.

The breakthrough treatment is as soft as toothpaste but hardens 15 minutes after being injected.

The liquid, made at Nottingham University could help the 1.5million Brits who need bone graft surgery each year. It may also revolutionise tricky ops on the spine.

BOOBY-TRAPPED

A woman was rescued by firefighters after her boobs became wedged between a toilet and wall in Moscow, Russia.